My first bike ride was with you Mr. Chris. I will never forget how free I felt on that bike with you. I am thankful for the countless times I was welcomed into your home and family. Though it's been years since I've seen you, we still managed to keep up through the wonderful world of cyberspace. You are loved and missed by so many. Take your rest now and Ride In Power, Chris 🥺❤️

Pop pop Chris, My heart is so broken to know that you are gone. That I'll never get to hug you or say I love you one last time. I remember family dinners with you sitting on the back porch smoking your cigarettes and me sitting on your lap. Remember sleeping on pallets next to your side of the bed. I remember your humor and I think I got my sense of humor from you. I remember begging to ride with you on your motorcycle around the neighborhood and you would take me. I remember you touching my shoulder when you would walk by or messing up my hair. I remember blasting the spice girls in your tractor trailer. Every memory I have with you all I felt is joy. I felt so much happiness with you being there by my side. I remember growing up with you. Bugging you in your computer room while you were playing Facebook games. I'm so sad that you won't be growing up with me anymore. I will never forget your chuckles, your warm hugs, and your contagious smile. Just know you were a piece of me, and while you may be gone I know you will still always be by my side. Like you always were. I know you will be watching me from above watching over my life and all the big things I know you will be there. And I will be looking for you every step of my life. Whatever signals you send my way from heaven I will know that you are sending them. Along with your best buddies who are keeping you company. I think of you, uncle Ron, and aunt Cheryl up there together just keeping each other company. I love you pop pop you were an amazing grandfather. I am so happy you were apart of my life and I am forever grateful for you. Alyssa

Cat Mandu lit a candle in honor of Christopher.

I can still see the 6 of us(Chris, you, Ron, Cheryl, Thomas , myself) sitting around the fire, enjoying the evening after a good meal. Remember the fireworks in the motorcycle tailpipe? Rest in the arms of the angels, my friend.

I am so heartbroken to have been so far away in your final moments. You were my goofball Poppop Chris who I loved since the moment you came into my life at such a young age. The man that no matter what I could turn to at anytime. You have been through such extreme things in your life yet you always chuckled and put on that goofy smile of yours. I will miss the petty smacks of your cane when I would mess with you. I will miss the random texts from you calling me "dum dum". I will always remember you as my goofy Poppop who waved me goodbye on the porch extra long the last time you saw me. I will always remember your voice and the times I would steal your big tee shirts as my "night gowns". You will always be with me in all of my future steps that comes my way. I want to thank you for giving me all of your memories during childhood and adulthood. My son Blu loved you and he may not remember you but I will make sure he does as he grows. I will miss having our goofy chats, slaps, crap talking sessions, and time spent together. I hope you have found peace up there and one day I could join you. ☐ Goodbye to a piece of my heart may you rest peacefully now watching over all of us. Nanny loves you and we all will carry your love with us forever. Rest in peace goofball. ☐
